We are looking asap for a

Frontend Lead (m/f/d) – Full-time

Do you want to take an award-winning digital learning platform to the next level? Do you want to positively impact peoples lives with your work? Do you want to constantly develop your own skill set and tech stack? Then this is your opportunity - please reach out!

vCOACH: Soft Skill Training. No Trainer Needed. Powered by AI.

We are a fast growing, well-funded EdTech start-up disrupting the Soft Skill training market. Leveraging artificial intelligence, we offer fully digital yet personalized and impactful soft skill trainings (e.g., improved presentation skills #notrainerneeded). We are an experienced and diverse team (>20 people, 6 nations, >50% female). We are working "remote first" but also enjoy joint days at our offices in Munich (Marienplatz) and Berlin (Brunnenstr).

What you will be doing

- Be responsible for taking our web-app frontend to the next level supported by a great team of highly skilled and ambitious developers (your stack: React, Redux, Styled Components, Graphql/REST)
- Work closely with our product management, translate our roadmap to feature specifications and make software architecture decisions
- On the backend part you are interacting with AWS Serverless (e.g., cognito, s3, nosql, Appsync)

Your profile

- You are a communicative self-starter, motivated to define and implement coding best-practices across the company, and first and foremost, to build and shape a great product
- BS or MS in Computer Science or related field
- 3+ years of programming experience in some of the fields and languages mentioned above
- Bonus: team lead experience, working in (SaaS) startups
