

We are looking asap for a
FRONTEND ENGINEER (m/f/d) – Full-time position

Do you want to positively impact peoples lives? Do you want to shape an award-winning software product? Do you want to boost your career and create a beautiful software application that people really want to use? If you say: yes! yes! hell yes! ...then please reach out!

vCOACH: Communication Training. No Trainer Needed. Powered by AI.

We are an EdTech start-up specializing in the digitalization of professional Soft Skill trainings. Leveraging artificial intelligence, the trainings remain personalized and impactful (e.g., improved presentation skills). We are an experienced and diverse team (12 people, 6 nations, >50% female). Although we have a “remote first” setup, there is the possibility for joint days at the office in Munich or Berlin after the pandemic.

What you will be doing

- Shape the frontend of our web application with backend touchpoints (your stack: React, Redux, Styled Components, GraphQL/REST)
- On the backend part you are interacting with AWS Serverless (e.g., cognito, s3, nosql, Appsync)
- Work closely with our product management, translate our roadmap to feature specifications and make software architecture decisions

Your profile

- You are a communicative self-starter, motivated to define and implement coding best-practices across the company, and first and foremost, to build and shape a great product
- BS or MS in Computer Science or related field
- 3+ years of programming experience in some of the fields and languages mentioned above
- Bonus: You are also interested in backend architecture and want to take ownership of it
